Lecture 1: Community Forestry

What is community forestry?

Community forestry is when “communities have the right to manage the forest resources upon which they depend, with a view to improving their living conditions.” 7 Jan 2021

What is community forestry

Community forestry is a broad term used to describe models of forest management that give local people the majority say in making decisions. Similar terms include participatory forest management, collaborative forest management, social forestry, and community-based forest management. With an aim to reduce poverty, community forestry is participatory and should serve all community members equitably.

Lecture 2: Contentious issues

A leaders framework for decision making

Many executives are surprised when previously successful leadership approaches fail in new situations, but different contexts call for different kinds of responses. Before addressing a situation, leaders need to recognize which context governs it—and tailor their actions accordingly.
