

Training in Tasmania's co-regulatory forest practices system

Chris Grove and Laurel Trebilco,
Communications and Training Program

FOREST PRACTICES AUTHORITY

Chris and Laurel

1

Unique forest practices system

2

Role of training

3

How training takes place

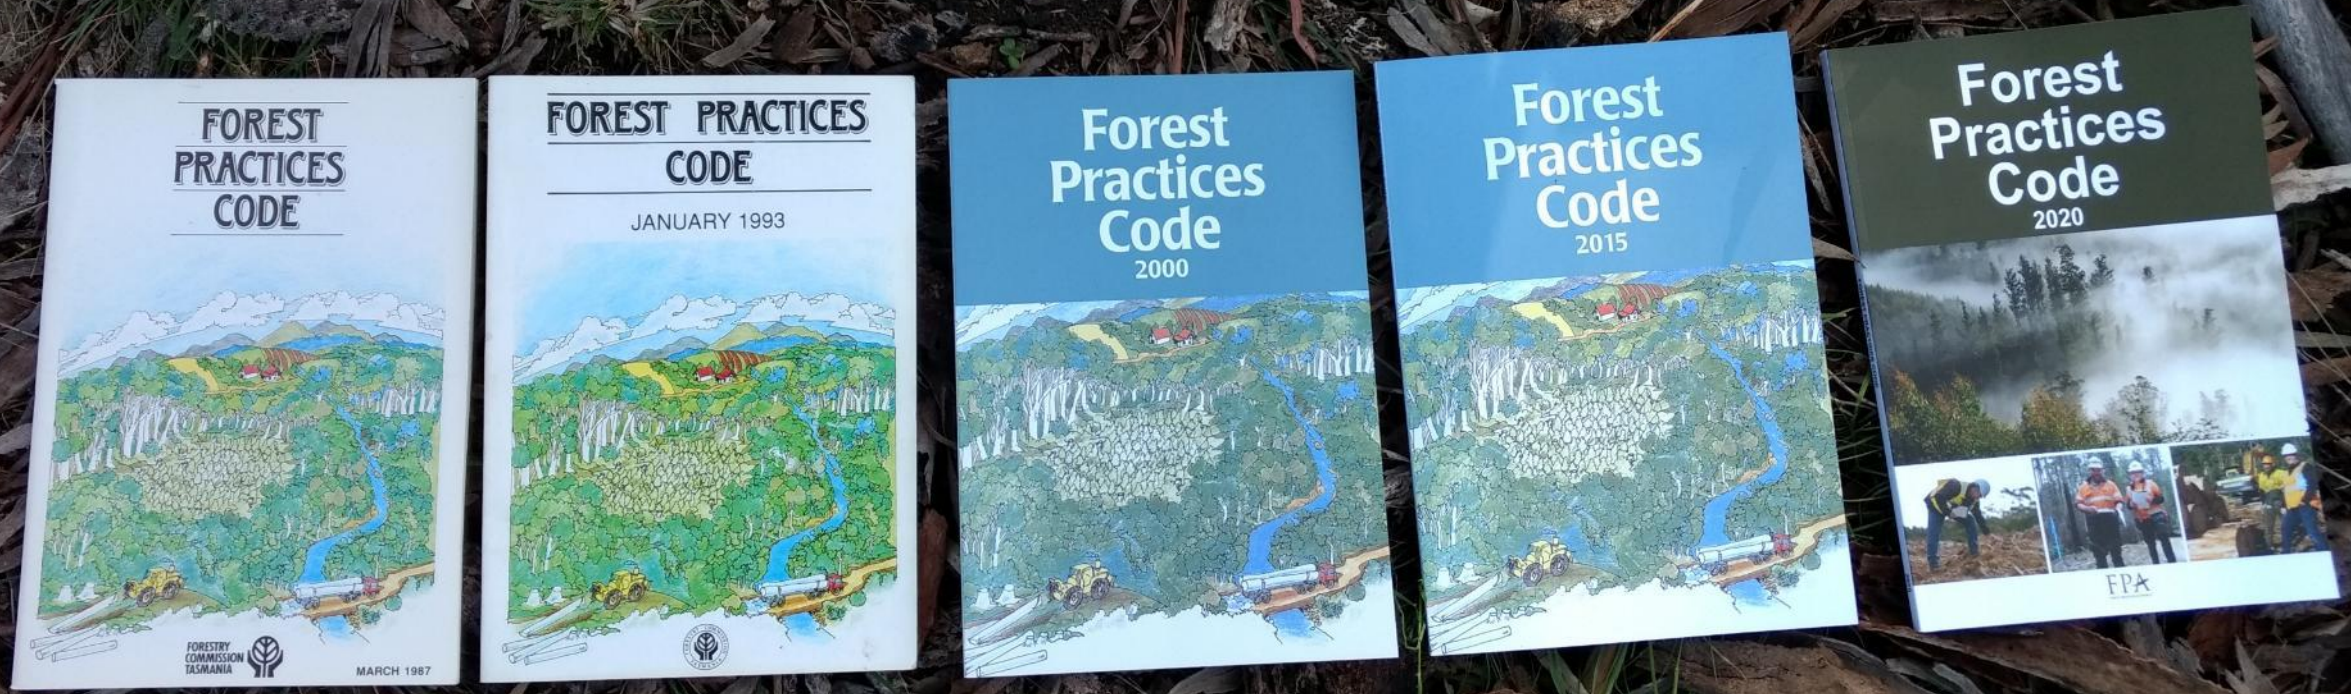

4

Sharing ideas and experiences

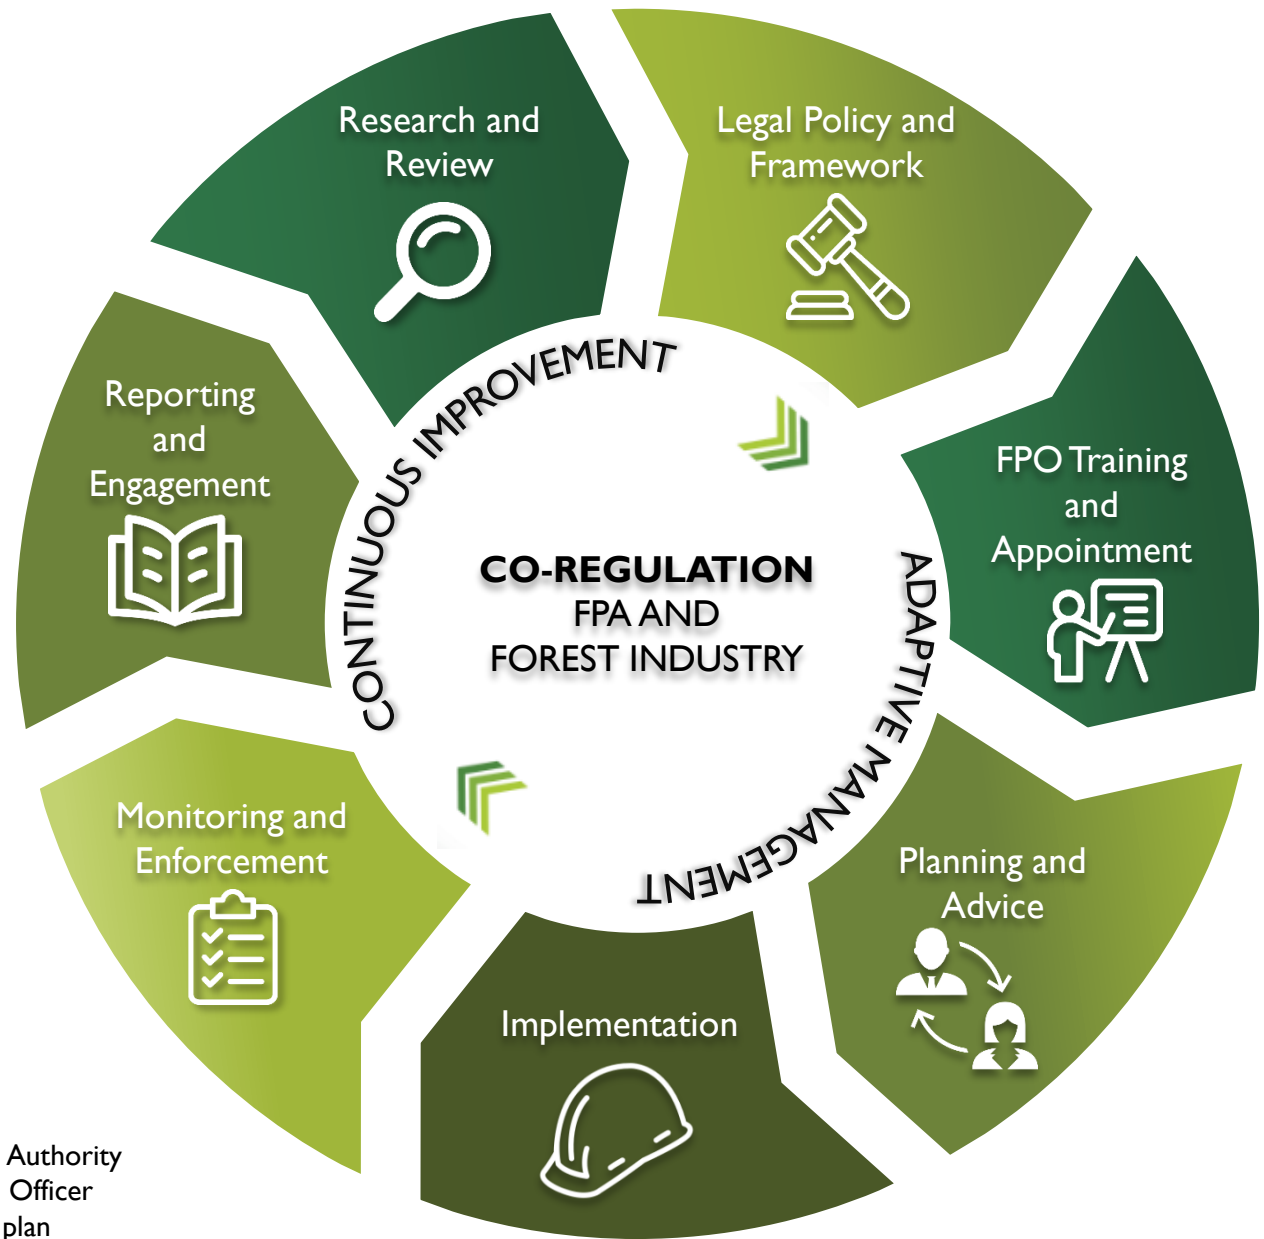

Unique forest practices system

Adaptive management

THE TASMANIAN FOREST PRACTICES SYSTEM

	Forest Practices Act 1985 Forest Practices Code Forest Practices Regulations 2017 Permanent Native Forest Estate Policy Forest Practices Tribunal for appeals under the Act
	FPO and forestry stakeholder training, refresher courses and field days by FPA FPO appointment by FPA
	Evaluation and preparation of FPP by forest industry FPA research and advisory services Stakeholder consultation during FPP preparation FPP certification and administration
	Forest operations in accordance with FPP and Code Supervision by FPOs
	FPO functions and powers FPP compliance reports FPA annual audit of FPPs Enquiries and investigations Penalties
	FPA Annual Report State of the Forests Report FPA research and review FPAC Stakeholder consultation
	FPP special values effectiveness monitoring Continuous improvement informed by research and practice FPA annual research review

FPA: Forest Practices Authority
FPO: Forest Practices Officer
FPP: Forest practices plan
FPAC: Forest Practices Advisory Council

Role of training

Independent courses

- Specific
- Nimble
- Efficient

Three types of training

- Accreditation
- FPA-identified
- Collaboratively-identified

How training takes place

Training resulting in accreditation

- FPO Training Course
- Quarry FPP Course
- Eagle Habitat and Management Course
- Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Course

FPA-identified training

Core skills

Changes in the forest practices system

Regular refreshers

Compliance monitoring

Collaboratively-identified training

Training Needs Survey

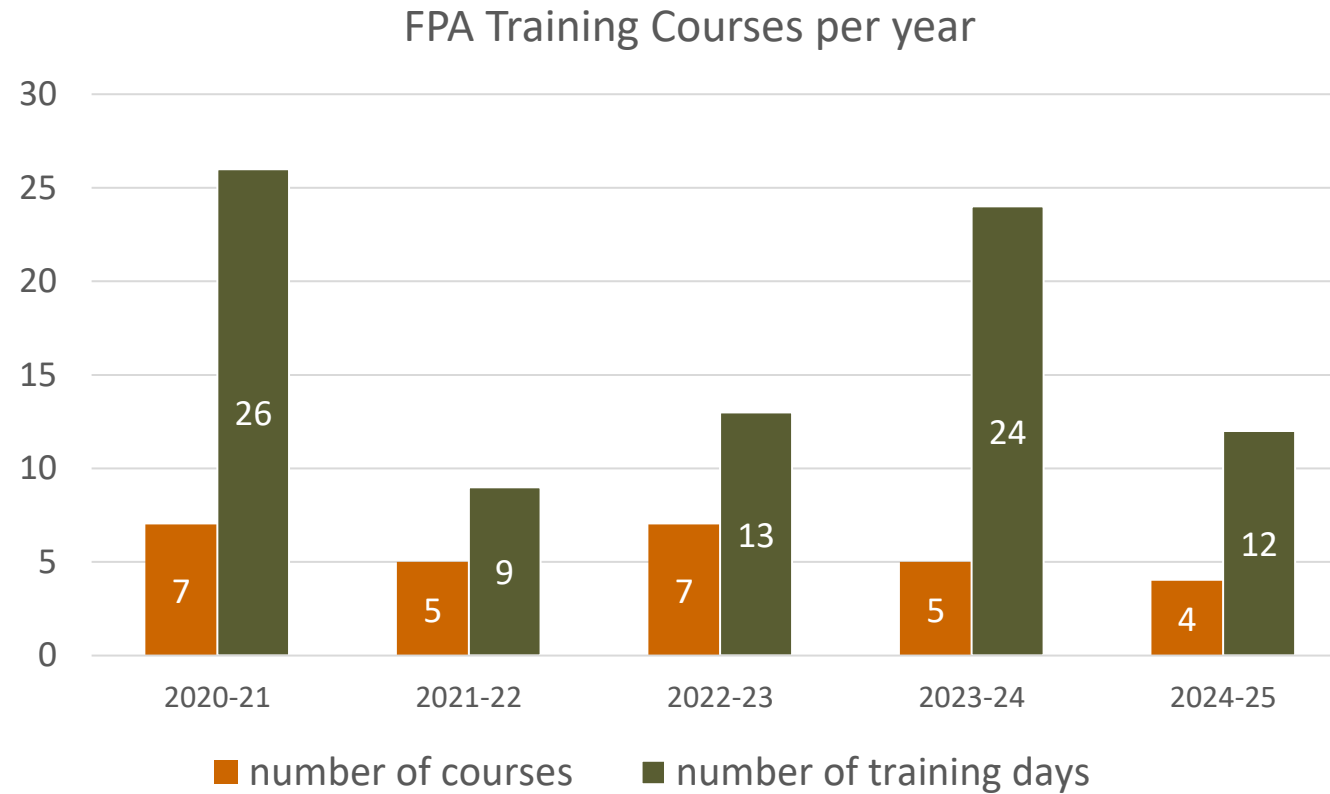

Training Review Working Group

FPO Reference Group

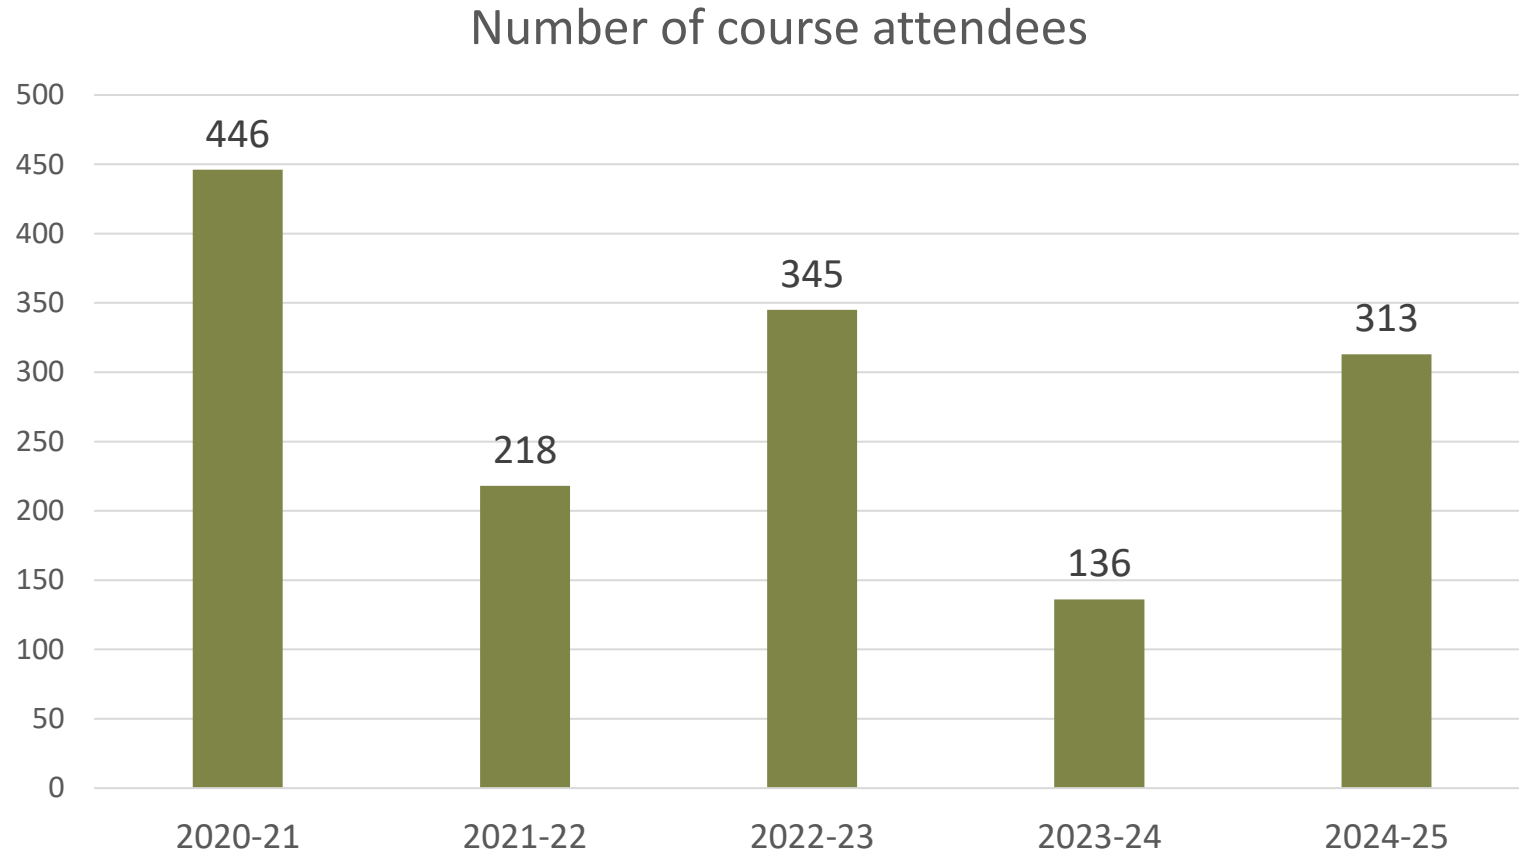

Informal requests

Scale of training

Scale of training

People love our courses!

The level of detail was appropriate and the split between classroom and field is good.

So much information but such a great course. I enjoyed working with the FPOs in the field.

I might be the only person who cares about this, but it would be great to have a georeferenced pdf map of the field site.

Moving forward

Improve accessibility

- financially
- physically
- temporally
- expand reach

Sharing ideas and experiences

What works for us:

- Consult with learners
- Consult with forest industry/employers
- Consult with trainers/specialists

- What training needs do our stakeholders have?
- How do we meet these training needs?
- How are we going to deliver this training?
- How can we keep the costs down?
- How can we monitor the effectiveness of our training?

FPA

FOREST PRACTICES AUTHORITY